Urban Renewal Gets Federal Aid

The Seaside Redevelopment Agency recently received a federal grant of $1,264,234 for the Hannon and Laguna Grande redevelopment projects. Finnly Sutton, acting director of the agency, said that approximately 10% of the funds would go towards the Laguna Grande prject. The bulk of the funds would be used to complete the Hannon project.

MPUSD Calls Tax Election

The Monterey Peninsula Unified School District has called a tax election for July 21 which seeks voter approval to increase the tax rate 94¢ per $100 assessed valuation for four years. The general purpose basic tax rate would increase from the current $2.66 to $3.60 as a result of the election.

Two Birch Members Elected to Congress

Los Angeles - The election victories in Los Angeles and Orange counties of two Republicans has made them the only acknowledged members of the ultra-conservative John Birch Society in Congress. The winners, John Rousselot and John Schmitz, tallied margins of more than 2 to 1 in a special election to the unexpired terms of two GOP congressmen who died this year. Defeated in the election were two Democrats, David N. Hartman, a political science professor, and Myrlie Evers, widow of Medgar Evers, the Mississippi civil right leader assassinated in 1963.

15c Tax Hike Proposed

The Seaside City council last week approved a preliminary $2.26 million 1970-71 budget calling for a 15¢ hike in the city's present $1.55 per $100 assessed valuation property tax. City Manager Milton Farrell's efforts to cut $5000 from the budget without a property tax increase by the city met with only partial success. Farrell told the council that he could eliminate approximately $7,800, mostly in hardware used by the department of public works. In a further move to reduce the budget Mayor Louis Haddad suggested that the city's recreation program be trimmed back. This move was opposed by council members Stephen Ross and Mrs. Pearl Carey. Present plans call for the hiring of a full time recreation director, a move Mrs. Carey said "is long overdue in the city."

U.S. Policies

United States military strategy in Southeast Asia is producing such devastating, long-term environmental damage in Vietanm that a crippled land will be the "legacy of our presence," a group of Stanford University biologists warned recently.

The study team, which included graduate students, post-doctoral fellows and faculty members of Stanford's Department of Biological Sciences, made public its findings on the ecological effects of the Indochina war in a conference held at the Sheraton-Palace hotel. The report, entitled "The Destruction of Indochina--A Legacy of Our Presence," was published by California Tomorrow, statewide environmental organization.

"This study falls within the scope of our concerns," California Tomorrow noted, "for we will be unable, while pursuing the dirty business it portrays, to turn our wealth and creative energy to our massive domestic problems, prominent among which are those involving the environment--of California and the nation."

The report detailed the intensive defoliation and cropland-destruction programs employed by U.S. forces in Vietnam which claim to be justified in terms of saving lives of the U.S. and South Vietnamese troops fighting for the sake of the people of South Vietnam.

"However," the report adds, "in view of the permanence of the environmental damage being produced by U.S. military operations in Southeast Asia, it is impossible to identify the benefit to the people living there or to their descendants."

Noting that the report is primarily concerned with ecological damage, the authors also point to other damaging results of these warfare tactics.

It says: "The military is transforming a basically rural agrarian society into an urban nightmare which is economically dependent on the continued presence of the United States. America and its allies have forcibly transported people from hamelts into refugee camps located in and near cities, and have driven many more off their ancestral lands by bombing and defoliation.

"In the past ten years Saigon has grown from a city of 250,000 to become one of the world's largest.

"It now has 3,000,000 people and is the world's most densely populated city. The extremely rapid influx into the cities and surrounding camps has created massive problems in housing, feeding and providing medical care for the refugees."

In an introductory statement, co-author Donald Kennedy, professor and chairman of the Department of Biological Sciences at Stanford, comments that the "central question is now a simple one. 'How can we claim to be acting on behalf of people when our action itself is prohibiting a future for them?' "

The authors forecast that "when the fighting has finally ended, the suffering and hardship will have only begun, for our actions in Vietnam have severely upset the environment and greatly reduced the ability of the land to support its people.

"The defoliation of vast areas of forest and agricultural land by poisonous and teratogenic (fetus-deforming) herbicides, the saturation

Division of Highways

The California Division of Highways is calling for bids on five projects in bay area and coastal counties.

In Santa Cruz County, a Route 9 curve will be widened and resurfaced at Glengarry Road, about 1.7 miles south of Felton.

This portion of Route 9 is a narrow two-lane winding road through mountainous terrain. In negotiating the curve which is to be widened, vehcles either encroach on the adjacent lane, or go off the traveled way, breaking down the edge of the pavement and causing a continuous maintenance problem.

The curve will be widened to provide two 14-foot lanes with three-foot shoulders.

Bids will be opened July 29 in Sacramento. A total of $16,000 is available for the work.

Construction of an overhead sign is scheduled for North Main Street (Route 183) in Salinas.

The cantilevered structure at Lake Street will have panels over the west lanes, indicating that the median lane leads to Route 101--Business, Monterey Street, and the curb lane to Main Street and Castroville via Route 183.

Bids will be opened July 29 in Sacramento. Approximately $17,000 is available for the project.

JOBS EUROPE

Princeton Research Corporation officials announced that they have 500 salaried jobs available, year round, in England and Europe for young Californians 18 to 25 years of age.

The aim of this JOBS EUROPE program is to give young Californians an inexpensive and unique opportunity to live in, and learn about, Europe.

This is the 10th Anniversary of their youth jobs program. To date, 5,000 students have worked in Europe with their help.

To celebrate the JOBS EUROPE 10th anniversary program the staff has arranged 500 guaranteed jobs for work in London for anytime of the year. Previously the program was mostly for summer jobs in Switzerland, both French and German speaking areas.

These salaried jobs are mostly with large London hotels. The minimum working period is four months--but longer if desired. The working hours are 45 per week and most jobs include board and room. Friends can work together if they apply together.

A unique feature of the program, besides the guaranteed London job, is the fact that participants are free to travel where they wish after completing their work assignment.

For free details write to PRC. JOBS EUROPE Program, 13355 Cantara Street, Panorama City, CA 91402.

Del Valle Reservoir

Operation of Del Valle Reservoir State Recreation Area will be assumed by the East Bay Regional Park District on July 1, according to William Penn Mott Jr., Director of the California department of parks and recreation. The two agencies are negotiating a long-term operating agreement for the area.

The reservoir, built by the State Department of Water Resources as part of the California Aqueduct of the State Water Project, was opened to the public April 1 on an interim basis by the Department of parks and recreation. It offers boating with a 6-lane boat launching ramp and parking area installed by the department of navigation and ocean development, camping, picnicking and fishing.

The department of parks and recreation has provided a 25-unit temporary campground,

Bob Wood Reports

I have had several people ask what I think will happen in California if our people in the age bracket of 18 through 20 get an opportunity to vote. I'll be frank about it, I doubt if I know the answer any better than you do. However, I have tried to gather together some information which may be of interest to you.

This age bracket, if given the opportunity vote, would make eligible a little under one million potential new voters in the state and some ten million throughout the nation. In Monterey County there is no real way of knowing exactly how many young people we have in this category although school enrollment figures show we have approximately ten thousand enrolled in Hartnell and Monterey Peninsula

Today, H&H Suply Co., with its modern retail store, warehouses and yard, occupies twice its original area . . . over three acres.

H & H Expands Store

The H and H Supply Company is in the process of expanding their store from the present 10,000 square feet to a huge 28,000 square feet. This will provide spacious aisles like a great supermarket to better display the thousands of home-improvement and maintenance items that H&H offers at budget prices.

H&H Supply is 24 years old and was founded on December 1, 1946 by JO.
1, 1946 by J.O. Handley and Elmer Hansen. On July 1, 1956 Tom H. Handley purchased the business from his father and partner and changed the name to H&H Supply Company. The store has grown from a small lumber yard to the largest building material and home supply store on the peninsula. It has grown in staff from 4 in 1946 to a staff of 17 now, with a payroll in excess of $170,500. Paid real estate taxes in 1969 of $16,189 and sales taxes in Seaside of $76,468. Over the last 15 years they have paid floor and inventory taxes to the county of $97,500.

The store will remain open during the expansion program

Independence Day, Fourth of July, picnics, hot dogs, parades, family outings, all are synonymous with the great national holiday celebrating our independence from a tryant king, only 194 years ago. Monterey is celebrating its 200th birthday this year together with the rest of California yet we have been a sovereign nation less than 200 years. 200 years is really not a very long time in the history of man yet, we look at all of the modern progress around us and marvel that most of it actually has taken place in the last 70 or 80 years. Of course I am talking of progress in the sense of industrial output and technological advancement. When I try to think of progress in the sense of human thought and for humanity, then I have to stop and reconsider. Have we progressed up the ladder as human beings? Is man more aware of his responsibility to his fellow man? Has civilization worked towards the higher spiritual elevation of man. Do all of your achievements in the realm of technology bring us closer to the truth. Are we still revolutionaries in the sense that we welcome change, or have we sunk down to the level of reactionaries who dread any change. We have to go back in our memories to the history books and try to realize the sufferings and deprivation that our founding fathers must have endured through the early days of our revolt against England and King George. These Pilgrims left a country where they were being persecuted because of their religious beliefs. They came to

Summer School Enrollment

Summer school enrollment in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District is up several hundred over 1969, to a total of 5716. This is nearly a third of the regular term enrollment which is around 18,000 students kindergarten, grades 1-12. A little better than a third of the 29 school plants are in use. Nine out of 22 elementary schools and both senior high schools have summer school classes.

Summer school opened June 15. Classes will not be in session Friday, July 3, in observance of July 4 Independence Day.

Elementary summer school is through July 24. There are both basic and advanced kindergarten and primary classes, grades 1-3. Programs for children in grades 4-6 include basic and advanced reading and arithmetic, science, junior politics, arts and crafts, games and activities, beginning and intermediate instrumental music, and introduction to a foreign language. There also are classes in swimming for elementary children at each senior high school pool. Nearly 4000 elementary pupils are in the academic and humanities classes, and 535 are enrolled in the swimming program.

Junior high summer school also is through July 24, 6 weeks. Senior high is in two semesters through August 7. Both are offered at the two senior high plants. Many courses are the same but at different levels of instruction. Among these are basic and advanced reading and mathematics, creative and humanities classes in English, speed reading, writing, history, arts and crafts; science, industrial and vocational education including wood ship, home economics, and office work. Driver training at both schools totals 290 students. Total secondary count is 1,160.

Special programs continuing through the summer, although not technically part of summer school, include speech therapy classes at several elementary schools, a program for school-age-mothers, educable mentally retarded, and for visually handicapped pupils.

There are 200 teachers for summer school. Gerald O. Anderson is principal. All classes are held mornings. Bus transportation is provided on the same formula as for the regular term. Summer school is supported by state funds based on average daily attendance.

Amended Medi-Cal

Amended Medi-Cal regulations effective August 1 will allow some 150,000 needy to get more medical services free but require another 50,000 with more resources to pay a certain amount for medical services before becoming eligible.

The changes were adopted Wednesday after the administering Department of Health Care Services weighed evidence from a June 25 public hearing for nearly a week, Director Earl W. Brian announced recently.

Some 37 amendments were intended to establish uniform benefits for all of the two million indigents under the health care program.

Prior to the changes, some 200,000 persons who do not

Premium Awards Worth

Entries for revived premium competition in the Art Show at the 117th California State Fair, August 21 through July 10, according to Edward J. Lynam, exhibit supervisor. Premiums valued at $4,720 will be awarded to the winners in 13 classes.

All entries for Art Show'70 must be made on official blanks can be delivered in person on weekdays to Building 6, 7 and 8, Exposition Center, from 8 AM to 5 PM, or sent prepaid.

Rules of competition are similar to those of past years. Classifications include oil paintings; water colors, tempera and gouache; prints, drawings and pastels; sculpture and architectural forms; ceramics including stoneware, porcelain and earthware; enameled metal and glass forms; metal work; jewelry; handblocked textiles, hand woven textiles and stitchery; and dimensional woven textiles.

Any living California artist is eligible to submit art not previously shown at Cal Expo. The well-qualified panel of California judges, each an expert in his own area, includes Marjorie Close, Sylvia Graske, Ben Abril, Michael Green, Doris Morrison, Tony Williams, Walt Allen Smith, John Lewis, James Lovera, John Whitney, Kay Whitcomb, Freda Burkhardt, Lydia Van Gelder and Dorothy Piercy.

Each contributing artist must set a valuation on his entry and indicate whether or not it is for sale. Ribbons or medals will also be awarded in addition to premiums received.

"Although the premium monies offered the winners have been reduced, the cash awards compare favorably with those offered by any other show in the state because purchase awards have been eliminated," according to Lynam.

The 30th North American International Photographic Exhibit, also being held at Cal Expo, is sponsored by the State Fair and the Sierra Camera Club of Sacramento. Entries of black and white or color prints may be submitted from anywhere in the world by July 28 on official NAIPE blanks which will be furnished on request. Judging will be August 6 by DeWitt Bishop, FPSA; Prof. Nicholas DeLucia and Rod Shaar.

Extra entry blanks and Art Show'70 premium books are available at Cal Expo. For further information contact the California State Exposition and Fair, Box 15649, Sacramento, California 95813.

Monterey County Fair

The gold the men of Spain dreamed of when they first traveled California's unknown hills and valleys is still here, only today it's not so hard to find.

A lot of it will be given away at Monterey County Fair, to be held on the fairground in Monterey, August 12 through 16.

Fair Manager George T. Wise today announced there will be $61,145 in premiums and prizes for exhibitors at this year's fair -- plus uncounted qualities of ribbons and a room full of trophies.

The 1970 Monterey County Fair offers exhibitors more than $9,000 more in cash awards than exhibitors earned in 1969.

The 1970 fair premium books, which list the $61,145 bonanza to be found in the Monterey County fairgrounds, have been mailed to former exhibitors.

Additional copies of the premium book, which also lists exhibition rules, may be obtained from the office of the Salinas Valley Fair in King City from the Salinas Chamber of Commerce office, 119 E. Alisal Street; from the Agricultural Extension Service 118 Wilgart Way, Salinas; and from the Monterey County fairgrounds (372-5863).

Wise points out there is one major change in the 1970 premium book. A class for photography has been added in the 4-H Department.

First entry deadlines are for the junior exhibitors. Both FFA and 4-H club exhibitors of livestock must have their entries on file at the Monterey fairgrounds by 5 p.m., on July 7. Mailing address of the fairgrounds is P.O. Box 1151, Monterey.

Deadline for entries for the national horse show, held in conjunction with Monterey County Fair, is July 10.

Theme for the 1970 fair is "quest and fulfillment". It alludes to the Spanish search for Monterey Bay 200 years ago, the occasion for the year-long bicentennial celebration in Monterey this year.

"But this theme is as meaningful today as it was 200 years ago," Wise says. "The Spanish explorers sought Monterey Bay. Their quest was successful. Today men seek the answers to the grave problems of pollution, over population and war. We are confident their quest will be successful, too."

San Juan Bautista

In the hot days of summer when the heat waves shimmer along the Salinas Valley and cattle seek the shade of trees, the sun-baked buildings of San Juan Bautista that are rich with the tradition of Mexico and early mission settlements take on new meaning. A walk around the plaza and a visit to some of the old structures that surround it, is literally a walk through California history.

San Juan Bautista is actually a compounding of three periods of California's colorful history reports the California State Automobile Association--the Mission period, the Mexican and the early American periods.

The mission itslef was both a church and monastery of the Catholic Church. It was built in 1797 and the church was the largest of the mission churches. The bell that hangs in the garden in front of the chapel is the only one that is left of nine that hung there originally in recognition of the importance of the church. The walls inside show the original decorations done by the Indian converts in paint made from ground rock.

The convent wing of the mission whch adjoins the church contains many interesting relics of the early days.

Directly opposite the mission across the plaza is a building labeled "Plaza Hall." This is the Zanetta House, erected in 1815 to house unmarried Indian girls and women. After the mission period it was used as headquarters by the Cavalrymen of General Jose Castro. When Angelo Zanetta acquired the house he tore down the walls and rebuilt them of adobe in 1868. Upstairs is a large hall, famous as the Plaza Hall. The lower floor was Zanetta's private residence.

Other historic buildings around the plaza are the Castro House built in 1840-41, and the Plaza Hotel built in 1813-14. The hotel was built as a barracks and headquarters for the Spanish soldiers stationed here to protect the Franciscan padres in their work with the Indians.

Just below the mission on the side facing the rodeo grounds is a portion of the old El Camino Real, the Kings Highway, that once connected all the missions in the chain. In back of the mission is the Indian cemetery with the graves of over 4,000 of those who lived at the mission settlement.

San Juan Bautista, called "The City of History," makes a fascinating motor trip for all members of the family along the historic El Camino Real.

Book Fair

The 10th Annual Book Fair of All Saints' Episcopal Church will be held Thursday, July 9, from 10-4 p.m. in the Parish Hall, Lincoln & 9th, Carmel. In addition to the usual large selection of books in all categories, sheet music and records, pictures, picture frames, and library accessories, there will be a special sale of posters and prints denoting this year's Fair theme: "Books, Signs and Symbols of the Times." Included will be Dali zodiac, peace, ecology, and other currently symbolic posters.

A new feature of the Fair will be a "silent auction" from 10-11:30 a.m. of rate and special books and items, such as some limited anf first editions, out of print reference books, a Bookhouse set for children, a unique 2 volume work on birds, and a large Everyman's Library. Successful bidders must be present at 11:30.

El Frieda Liese will autograph copies of her book, "Curious Customs of Carmel."

A snack bar will serve throughout the sale, and from 11-2 p.m. a patio buffet luncheon will feature, for those who are ecology-minded, "Earth Day Foods," prepared under the supervision of Mrs. Lucy Lynch.

Free baby-sitting service will be available throughout the day for book hunters.

St. Bede's Guild sponsors this event, proceeds from which go to maintain the Vera Millis Memorial Library at All Saints' Church and to support school libraries, scholarship funds and ecumenical projects like Camp Amigos.

Co-chairmen of the Book Fair are Mrs. Donald F. Taugher (372-7248) and Mrs. Alfred Cooper (372-9267).

Monterey Pen. College

Ron James, a Peninsula photographer who has taught at Monterey Peninsula College, will conduct an evening photographic workshop at MPC from July 14 through August 6.

The workshop will meet Thursday, 7 to 11 p.m. in MPC's Lecture-Forum 104. Enrollment will be limited to 20 participants who will work, on an individual basis, on darkroom procedures, concentrating on film processing, enlarging and finishing.

Advance registration is required. Interested persons are asked to mail or bring the $15 registration fee to the college community services office in the administration building on campus.

Sleep & Dreams

Not getting enough sleep will slow you down--but so will getting too much.

The brain is never asleep. It just changes its pattern of activity.

People who say they never dream, really do.

These, and other findings, are the result of research by a relatively new breed of scientist typified by Ralph J. Berger, 32, associate professor of psychology at the University of California, Santa Cruz. His research for the last 10 years has been devoted largely to unraveling the mysteries of sleep and dreaming.

Berger, who has an article entitled "Morpheus Descending" in the June issue of "Psychology Today," reports that from electrical recordings of the brain and body, "we have learned more about sleep in the last 15 years" than we had in all of time up to the mid-50's. It was then that a team of scientists discovered that the state of sleep is actually two states--both quite distinguishable from each other.

"Four to six times a night, at intervals of about an hour and a half, we enter a sleep state in which the eyes dart and roll around under the lids," says Professor Berger. "This state is called REM sleep because of these rapid eye movements.

"The first REM period of the night typically starts an hour or so after going to sleep. It is usually only five to 10 minutes long, much shorter than the 25-minute REM periods that occur later in the night. While the eye muscles are hard at work and the heart and breathing rates speed up, the rest of the body is extremely relaxed."

Adults sleep with Rapid Eye Movements only about 25% of the night, Dr. Berger says. "During the rest of our sleep the eyes roll slowly from side to side or are completely still, so this state is called non-REM sleep. Sleepwalking occurs only in this non-REM state and so do most other activites like sleeptalking, snoring and bedwetting."

Berger points out that dreaming can occur during both types of sleep, but that most dreams are reported after REM sleep. "Also," he says, "it is possible that the ability to remember one's dreams may be different in the different stages of sleep. The short-term memory of dream events is a fragile thing. Who has not awakened sure that he has just had a dream but not all sure what it was about?

"People differ in their ability to remember dreams. Some claim they have never had a dream in their lives. Yet when they sleep in the laboratory and are awakened from REM sleep, they report dreams 50% of the time. It appears that nondreamers probably dream as often as dreamers but merely have poorer recall.

"Another related finding is that dream recall drops off sharply within 5 to 10 minutes after the end of the REM period. A subject who is awakened say five minutes after the end of a REM period is typically less likely to remember a dream than is a subject awakened three minutes after a REM period.

"It is possible that we dream all through the night," says Berger, "but that the state of consciousness during non-REM sleep is such that stimuli do not jell into permanent memories."

Just why there are these two states of sleeping is still one of the mysteries of life. Sleep researchers offer theories only. Some think that REM sleep has something to do with sorting and storing memories; others think it might help maintain a healthy nervous system, or keep the brain aroused in case of danger.

Professor Berger's own theory is that REM sleep may be a form of automatic exercise to keep the eyes in alignment. "Without it," says Berger, "one's eyes might be out of alignment briefly on awakening, and depth perception would be considerably impaired. We might even see the world as double."

Regardless of what future research will discover about sleep and dreaming, Berger says we must sleep in order to stay sane. People who have been forced to go without sleep in the name of sicence have suffered from delusions and hallucinations. But all it took to cure them was a good night's sleep.

For sleep-llving Ralph Berger, one aspect of his work is hard to take. In studying the sleep of others, he sometimes misses his own.

A native of Vienna, Berger grew up in England where he did undergarduate work at Cambridge. Later, while studying under Ian Oswald at the University of Edinburgh, he became interested in sleep and dreaming. In 1963 Berger received his Ph.D with a dissertation on that subject. Further research in the field brought him to Puerto Rico where he became an associate in the Laboratory of Perinatal Physiology of the National Institute of Neurological Diseases and Blindness. There he spent 18 months studying the development of sleep patterns in new-born monkeys. Before coming to the University of California, Santa Cruz in 1968, Berger spent 3 years in the anatomy department and the Brain Research Institute at UCLA.

Campgrounds

The campgrounds in 27 state park units are booked solid for the 4th of July weekend, and 4 Southern California beach parks are booked solid through the month of August, according to William Penn Mott Jr., Director of the California Department of Parks and Recreation.

The 4 beach parks filled by reservations throughout the month of August are: Doheny, San Clemente, San Elijo, and South Carlsbad State Beaches. These were filled up while Computicket was making reservations, Mott said.

Family campsites are completely filled for the weekend of the 4th in:

Alpine County -- Grover Hot Springs State Park
Calaveras County -- Calaveras Big Trees State Park
El Dorado County -- D.L. Blis and Sugar Pine Point State Parks
Los Angeles County -- Leo Carrillo State Beach
Marin County -- Samuel P. Taylor State Park
Mendocino County -- Russian Gulch State Park
Napa County -- Bothe-Napa Valley State Park
Riverside County -- Lake Elsinore state recreation area
San Diego County -- Palomar Mountain State Park
San Mateo County -- Portola State Park
Santa Barbara County -- Carpinteria and El Capitan State Beaches and Gaviota state park
Santa Cruz County -- New Brighton and Sunset state beaches and Henry Cowell and Big Basin Redwoods State Park
Sonoma County--Armstrong Redwoods State Reserve
Ventura County -- Point Mugu State Recreation Area and McGrath State Beach

The Class A campsites at Mount San Jacinto State Park in Riverside County are sold out, but some Class B sites are available.

At Pismo State Beach, San Luis Obispo County, the Class A campsites are sold out, but some Class B sites and sites with trailer hookups are available.

Director Mott advised vacationeers wishing to camp in a state park during the summer that campsites are available in the central valley, north coast, and the Sierras.

Public Hearings

Public hearing on the application of Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company to increase intrastate telephone rates and charges by $195,000,000 a year will move to Monterey Thursday, July 9.

In order to afford the public a better opportunity to give public testimony in these proceedings, the State Public Utilities Commission has scheduled the hearing for late afternoon and evening.

The Monterey hearing will be in Few Memorial Hall of Records, Madison and Pacific, starting at 3 p.m. It will continue until 5 p.m. and reconvene after the dinner hour at 7 p.m. and continue until 9:30 p.m.

The hearing will be before Commissioner Vernon L. Sturgeon and PUC Examiner Edmund F. Catey.

Offered At Seaside

A different kind of learning which includes introduction to wilderness living is occurring in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District's summer school class, "On Location Education," offered at Seaside High School to 22 young men, grades 10-11-12.

First four weeks of the class, which began June 15, have been spent in preparing students psychologically and physically for a five-day, 70-mile trip in Los Padres National Forest the week of July 13-17. Each Thursday the class has gone to Big Sur area for the day for woodcraft and wildlife study in the field, and to begin to learn about outdoor cooking. The sixth and final week will involve clean-up, choice of photographs to make up a class album, debriefing to analyze and discuss experiences, and skills and values learned.

Class and field instruction has included outdoor safety - such as how to keep from getting lost or what to do if lost, how to deal with wilderness environment, the animals and natural foods, how to use an axe, knife and saw safely, how to build and extinguish fires. Among skills taught are map reading, rock work, hiking and back-pack techniques, how to construct and maintain overnight campsites, fishing. A large part of the learning evolves from group discussions which may go beyond wilderness living to individual self-evaluation and building of self-esteem.

Toward the end of the five-day wilderness travel from Chews Ridge to the Arroyo Seco Ranger Station, each student will be responsible for transporting himself and 50 pounds of gear (sleeping bag, cooking utinsils, food) down a 14-mile stretch of Arroyo Seco River from the headwaters at Escandito to the ranger station. This area has numerous deep water pools, which students must swim and yet keep their equipment dry, it has waterfalls and stretches of shallow water to be waded.

John Nightingale, who usually teaches art at Seaside High School, is group leader. Other adults are Willie Wright, Seaside High School administrative assistant; Scott Lake, community school leader at Hayes School; and Dean Hunter, a volunteer from the Seaside community. In charge of the summer school program at Seaside High is Alden Phillips, whose regular term responsibility has been coordinator of occupations and vocations for MPUSD. Summer school principal is Gerald O. Anderson.

MPUSD Teacher Award

Nick Gianutsos, who teaches biology at Walter Colton Junior High School, Monterey, has received his seventh award from the National Science Foundation, to attend their summer institute at the University of Colorado at Boulder, July 6-14. The particular course is known as second level (advanced) biology.

Previous awards offered Gianutsos have been in teaching of first level (beginning) biology, at Loretta College, Denver; microbiology at Colorado State College; radiation biology at Boston College, and three different presentations at the University of California at Santa Barbara, in marine biology, marine botany, and study of the sea. "Mr. G." -as he is known to successive classes of students, first came to this area to teach in 1956, spent two years at Fremont Junior High and then transferred to Colton.

Film Historian Delivers Lectures

Beaumont Newhall, the country's foremost film historian, will deliver lectures on photography and the film in America at Monterey Peninsula College Tuesday, July 14, and Thursday, July 16, at 8 p.m. in Lecture-Forum 103.

The two-part seminar is to be co-sponsored by MPC's community services office and the University of California at Santa Cruz.

"Exploring the Past Through Photography" will be the title of Newhall's July 14 lecture. In it, he will demonstrate the potential of pictures as a way of describing the history of the United States, showing three classic films based on still photographs: "The City of Gold," an imaginative reconstruction of the gold rush at Dawson City; "Atget," a lyrical portrait of Paris, accompanied by the music of Eric Satic; and "Notes on the Port of St. Francis," with text by Robert Louis Stevenson.

On July 16 Newhall will speak on "Documentary Photograph," showing two films to illustrate the role of photography in dramatizing social situations: "Night Mail," with brilliant commentary by poet W. H. Auden; and "Yeats Country," a recent color film of the Irish countryside.

Tickets, at $1 per lecture, are available afternoons at the MPC community services office, and will also be sold at the door.

A graduate of Harvard University, where he also earned his master's degree, Newhall is director of the George Eastman House in Rochester, N.Y. and a lecturer at the Rochester Institute of Technology. A 1947 Guggenheim Fellow, he founded the department of photography at the New York Museum of Modern Art. He is author of "The History of Photography," "The Daguerreotype in America" and "Latent Image: The Discovery of Photography" and co-author with Nancy Newhall of "Masters of Photography."

Heart Assoc.

CARMEL, June 25: The Central Mission Trails Heart Association held its sixth annual meeting here last night at the La Playa Hotel.

The members of the association -- more than two hundred attended -- elected a slate of officers to serve in the coming twelve months headed by James W. Knight, M.D. of Salinas as president and Monterey City Councilman William D. Curtis as chairman of the board. Both men will take over their offices on July 1.

Anthony Calciano, M.D. of Santa Cruz was chosen president-elect, to take office next spring. Elected vice presidents were Mrs. Beatrice Fitzbuck, R.N. of Santa Cruz and Larry Stewart of Hollister. Charles F. Ziert and Mrs. Frank Logan, both of Salinas, were elected treasurer and secretary.

At the meeting, members of the Heart group and other interested persons heard a talk by Norman E. Shumway, M.E. OF Stanford on his experience in heart transplantation.

Awards were conferred on individuals and organizations which aided particularly in the fight against heart disease.

these strange shores to seek Freedom. These hardy souls not only sought freedom they fought for it. First they had to fight for survival and another one of our National Holidays celebrates the victory of those brave people for survival, Thanksgiving Day. After this they had to fight the organized might of a great world power and her mercenaries. Again they were victorious. Why...because they still were revolutionaires and were looking for a change for the better. After these victories an inspired group of men sat down and wrote what is today one of te most democratic documents giving man his freedom that was ever written, the Declaration of Independence. The very name of that document means freedom. Even then these men weren't satisfied that the Declaration did enough to free man so they wrote the BILL OF RIGHTS, adding the first 14 amendments to the constitution. They were so anxious to give us our complete freedom that our ancestors weren't satisifed that the Constitution they had written did this. They added the amendments to ASSURE us that freedom. The proof of their divine guidance is in the history-making decisions that our Supreme Court has made in the last few decades interpreting that constitution. Yes these interpretations have been revolutionary decisions. That is why the Tories of our day have so vehemently opposed them. Opposed them to the point where they wanted to impeach our Chief Justice, Earl Warren, who helped write some of the decisions which further guaranteed the freedom of man. The leader in the fight to impeach this great man was the Birch Society, a group of reactionaries who oppose any change, especially that change wich brings about social justice and social freedom for the ordinary man. They are the opponents of revolution. They want to stand pat where they now are. Why not, most of them are rich. And, do you want to know something. Two members of the Birch Society were elected to Congress the other day in Southern California. A country like ours, founded in revolution, can complacently elect two counter-revolutionaries to Congress, and yet what would be our reaction if there were two Communists elected. Communists are supposed to be revolutionaries, yet we fight them as if they were enemies. Our Constitution and the amendments that it contains are more democratic and more revolutionary than any of the decoments ever written or in use in any country in the world and that includes the Soviet Union and China. But we revolt at the word revolution.

I had to take the opportunity given me by the celebration of Independence Day to talk about independence and freedom. I wanted to become aware and to make you aware of your responsibility for our fellow man. His freedom and spiritual and yes, his material well-being is the responsibility of our government under our Constitution, and the well-being of every living thing is the responsibility of every man.

bombing and extensive burning, the deliberate destruction of crops with resulting starvation, malnutrition and disease--these we have introduced to Southeast Asia and to the list of available techniques for waging war."

The report concludes:

"The devastation we have already caused is a monstrous legacy for those we call our friends. The environment, the social organization, the very future of Vietnam have been so severely mortgaged by action supposedly on her behalf that an American policy of immediate and permanent cessation is clearly the most effective aid we can now give."

In addition to Professor Kennedy, other authors of the report are Professor Colin Pittendrigh, biology department; Howard Edenberg, graduate student in molecular biophysics; Patrice Morrow and Bruce Bartholomew, graduate students studying physiological ecology of plants; Lawrence Gilbert and Edward Merrell, graduate students in population biology and ecology; Peter Cohen, post-doctoral fellow in molecular genetics; Matthews Bradley, graduate student in developmental biology; and Patricia Caldarola and Paul Grobstein, graduate students in neurophysiology.

20 picnic sites and chemical toilets, and has budgeted $60,000 for a water supply and paving of the parking lot. East Bay Regional Park District will gravel the entrance road as part of the project. This work is scheduled to begin after Labor Day, when the period of peak park use is over. Future development will be by the district.

Del Valle contained 1,060 surface acres and stores 77,000 acre feet of water. It is five miles long and has a 16-mile shoreline.

It is located seven miles south of Livermore. To reach the area from east Livermore, take South Livermore Avenue, continue for a half-mile after it becomes Telsa Road, turn right onto Mines Road, and when Mines Road turns left, continue straight ahead on Mendenhall Road until you reach the reservoir.

Homemakers Quizzed About Water Pollution

Although most homemakers are highly concerned about water pollution, most of them don't realize that phosphate from their own laundry detergent is contributing to it.

According to consumer research findings disclosed by Sears, Roebuck and Co., only six percent of those interviewed named phosphate as a major contributor to water pollution.

When asked what specific detergent ingredient contributes to water pollution, many gave incorrect answers, and 71 per cent said they simply "don't know." Federal officials and scientists have blamed phosphate in detergents for excess plant growth which depletes oxygen in lakes and rivers.

The consumer survey was conducted in connection with the company's pending market introduction of a phosphate-free laundry detergent. The detergent is expected to be available nationally in the company's retail stores and catalog facilities by late summer.

Of homemakers surveyed, 74 per cent expressed serious concern about the pollution problem. And most of these women cited water pollution in particular.

But while the homemaker may not understand that phosphate in municipal sewage is a major contributor to water pollution, she does know that her detergent has something to do with it. The survey showed that 58 per cent of those contacted shared a "serious" or "somewhat serious" concern about the effect of laundry detergent on water pollution. Survey findings also showed that:

- Homemaker concern about pollution varies geographically. In the Cleveland and Pittsburgh areas, for example, 86 per cent of those interviewed said pollution is a "serious" problem, while in Miami, only 57 per cent agreed.
- Young women are more concerned about pollution than older homemakers. Eighty per cent of women under 30 years of age said pollution is a "serious" problem, while 71 per cent of women 50 years of age or older shared this view.
- Homemakers believe that business firms are most responsible for water pollution, that the individual consumer is least responsible for the problem, and that government should bear the most responsibility for correcting it.

Junior Colleges. It would be my guess that if given this opportunity, the students between 18 and 21 enrolled in our schools would show by far the highest percentage of registration and actual use of the voting privilege. Last week we read where President Nixon signed into law a bill lowering the voting age to 18, despite doubts about the measure's legality. He has asked for an immediate court test and of course the big question is, should the franchise be left up to the individual states or not. The Supreme Court will no doubt make a ruling on this in the very near future.

Our own Secretary of State, Mr. Sullivan, says it is the present understanding that it would take a State Constitutional Amendment by vote of the people, or a Federal Constitutional Amendment, to give the vote to the younger group.

Most of the young people that I have had a chance to talk with, both here in Sacramento and at home in our own Monterey County, feel that by all standards of judgment nothing could be more equitable than the young person's right to vote. They state that if young men are called upon to die in the service of their country then why should they not have a voice in the policies leading to such ultimate sacrifice. They say the enormous impact to swifter more comprehensive communications, the shrinkage of the world, all have produced a more mature younger age group. The opponents of such a bill have stated to me that they feel that giving young people the right to vote will only encourage extremist political movements and that younger voters could be too easily influenced by their instructors. And then there is another group who have stated that they feel that if the voting age is to be lowered, then the responsibilitie that go with being an adult must also be lowered. This includes the contracting of financial liabilities that only those over 21 can now do. It means this new group would have to stand in court as adults on all criminal matters, instead of being handled as juveniles. The age of majority is referred to many times in the law with respect to insurance, probates and so on. Here in the Assembly one of our committees is considering a proposed amendment to the State Constitution to lower the legal age of adulthood in California to 19. A few months ago in the State of Oregon a state's bill to lower the voting age to 18 was soundly defeated by the voters. However, in California we will have to wait the decision of the Supreme Court before we can proceed on this issue one way or the other.

get cash grants but whose income is too low to pay for health care, got limited services by paying a share of cost. The special category was confusing to those who provided the services and to those who received them and was expensive to administer.

The 50,000 with higher incomes and property resources would be required to show that they had spent a certain amount toward medical services before they would be eligible.

The new regulations reduce the exempt allowance for single persons and families up to five members, but increase the amount for families of six or more, Dr. Brian said.

"We believe that the changes will provide more adequate health program for those with the greatest need," the director said.

The changes also "put a more realistic limit on the amount a Medi-Cal patient amy have in income and property before the taxpayers pick up his medical bill."

The net saving in the first year would be about $9 million, and about $1 million thereafter, the Department estimated.

A number of other proposed regulatory changes for nursing homes and home health agencies were still being reviewed for further possible amendments before adoption.

Chancellor's Talk

Looking back on the last few months at the University of California, Santa Cruz Chancellor Dean E. McHenry recently said the Cambodian crisis offered an opportunity for students and townspeople to meet and talk, and in some ways, bridge the generation gap between them.

"It's not always easy to be patient and broadminded with student reactions," the Chancellor said during a retirement lunch for two staff workers. "There is a generation gap, and there is a difference in outlook that makes it difficult for us to understand whay young people do in times of stress. I think that, by and large, we were tolerant, we did try to understand, we did try to talk, and to get the point of view that they were trying to express.

"The reasons why the young people are so wrought up are well understood by all of you: the war in the Far East--an undeclared war--that's carried on for so long. It is, I think, virtually a war that cannot be won in the conventional sense. It seems to me that we're not set up to fight a war that is, to a large extent, a guerrilla war, nor are we as a people patient enough to see things through for 40 years of war or a 100 years of war. We want to get in and win and get out, and this isn't that kind of war.

"The young people also are able to see that they are the ones who make the principal scarifices in this war. In World War II, which nearly all of you can remember, and in World War I, we had sacrifices at home; we went without some things. Even if it were only beef rationing or gas rationing or something of the kind. Today, young men have to put their lives on the line, their health, their careers, while most of us go on with business as usual.

"I have been at pains to explain to the Regents as clearly as I could last Thursday and Friday (June 18/19) what happened on campus during the so-called "reconstitution" of courses. While we know exactly what proportion of grades given were incompletes, and all the other details, it all boils down to the fact that a great many people--students and faculty--worked harder than ever during this period in which courses were shifted around and changed.

"A surprising proportion of the courses didn't change at all, and some of them changed only a little. But it did offer us an opportunity to get acquainted with people in town, and I was very pleased with the reaction of the townspeople to the students; the students' approach to the townspeople, and their approach to the students; the discussion groups that ensued, and the bridging of the generation gap which took place in this period.

"I was also very pleased with the political education of the students. At the outset, a great many of them felt that the political and economic system we believe in simply would not be suitable for their purposes in the future. This is a very serious matter, becasue as we all know, there are more of them than there are of us and only the fact that they can't vote prevents them from filling the posts of leadership. And, it is just a matter of years until they do. Consequently, it is very important that they get a lesson in civics. I think they got it, by and large.

"Enough went to Washington (probably proportionately more than any institution west of the Mississippi went from Santa Cruz to Washington). They had pretty good leadership, they learned a good deal. And the ones that I've spoken to on their return, have very definite plans for political involvement and supporting national cnadidates of their choice. I think this is all to the good.

"Some of them have been advocating a week or two recess just before the elections next November. I have been opposed to it, and UC's President Hitch has taken a view adverse to it. My contention is that a candidate needs more help in September than he does in October. In October, if he hasn't gotten some help and some plans made, he's not going to put up much of a campaign anyway. But in September is the time when the campaign needs to be mounted, and if the young people are earnest about this, and don't work too late in their summer jobs, they can get going in political campaings in their own communities. I think they should be encouraged to do so. There also is an opportunity to go home for a long weekend and to participate.

"The danger of the recess immediately preceding the election, it seems to me, is that they won't go home. The students will stay around Santa Cruz, or the town of Princeton, or wherever it is, and meddle in local politics as carpetbaggers, in an area in which they don't belong, and will end up causing more resentment than helping the candidates of their choice.

"I'm pleased that President Nixon decided to sign the bill which includes the vote at 18. It is the extension of the voting rights bill of 1964, to which is added a provision for voting at 18 in national, state and local elections. We are not at all sure that it's constitutional, and it will be tested in the courts very soon.

"I have for 40 years advocated a vote at 18 because I think the young people are ready to accept responsibilities at that age. I think that we ought not, morally, ask young men to fight in the armed services when we deny them the right to vote today.

"If this law goes into effect and they vote for the first time in 1971, I think we'll have a new burst of enthusiasm on the part of young people. We may have bridged this dangerous era in which we have such a large proportion of our young people not believeng in the system that we have."

Highway Use Tax Return

Owners of large trucks, truck-trailers, or buses may be required to file a Federal Highway Use Tax return, Form 2290 between July 1 and August 31, Joseph M. Cullen, District Director of Internal Revenue for northern California said today.

The regular period for the highway use tax runs from July 1 through June 30 of the following year. Owners of trucks in use on public highways during July have to file a return by August 31 this year. Trucks that operate on the public roads after July must file a return within 30 days after the initial operation of the highway vehicle. The tax in this case is assessed on a pro-rated basis.

IRS Publication 349, "Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck-tractors, and Buses," furnishes detailed information on this subject and may be obtained at any office of the Internal Revenue Service.

IRS TO MAKE TAX CHECK

Owners of trucks and buses in northern California were advised by the Internal Revenue Service that a thorough check will be made to insure compliance with provisions of the Federal Highway Use Tax Law.

Joseph M. Cullen, District Director of Internal Revenue for northern California, said that lists of owners of taxable motor vehicles are being compared with Federal Highway Use Tax returns filed, to assure that all taxable vehicles were reported and to determine whether they were reported in the correct tax categories.

Cullen pointed out that highway use tax revenue collected by the Federal government is returned to the states to help pay the costs of the Interstate Highway System now under construction.

IRS Publication 349, "Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Truck-Tractors, and Buses," may be obtained free at any office of the Internal Revenue Service.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I just got my refund. Does that mean my return was OK?

A) The fact that you have your refund means your return contained all the information required to process it. Later, you may be asked to verify the accuracy of an item on your return, but it is not IRS policy to hold up refunds until a decision on whether to examine a return is made.

As a rule, tax may be assessed anytime within three years from the date the return was due to be filed. For this reason, keep your records on your 1969 tax return for at least three years. Records on stock purchases, property acquisitions and the like should be kept longer.

Q) Shouldn't my employer reduce my withholding now that I've had my 65th birthday?

A) You are entitled to an extra exemption for age which will reduce your tax withholding. To make this change, fill out a new withholding certificate, Form W-4, and give it to your employer.

Even though you became 65 after the start of the tax year, you are entitled to the entire amount of the exemption allowed for age on your next tax return. Exemptions are not pro-rated.

Q) Will profits from a sale of stock be taxed higher this year under the new law?

A) The alternative capital gains tax has been increased. However, up to $50,000, ($25,000 for a married person filing a separate return), capital gains will be taxed at the same 25 percent alternative rate as they have in the past. Gains over $50,000 will be taxed at a 29½ percent rate for 1970. In 1971, the alternative capital gains tax rate will go up to 32½ percent. Capital gains will be taxed at an effective maximum rate of 35 percent in 1972.

Q) Where can I get a copy of the new withholding rates that are effective July 1, 1970 so that I can adjust my payroll?

A) The new withholding rates are in Circular E (Rev. June 1970) which is being mailed to employers throughout the country. Extra copies may be obtained at your IRS district office.

Q) What do you have to prove to deduct moving expenses?

A) Two basic conditions must be met to qualify for moving expense deductions. First, your new place of employment must be 50 miles farther from your old home than your previous place of employment. To state this another way, you would meet this requirement if it would be 50 miles farther to go from your old home to your new job than it was before you changed jobs.

The other requirement is that you be a full-time employee at your new job for at least 39 weeks of the 12 months following your move.

To meet these requirements it is not necessary to have your job before you move. They can be met by persons moving to look for work as well as those who are either transferred to a new location or accept a new job that requires them to move.

Q) I greatly increased the value of my property this spring by putting in a number of ornamental, shade and fruit trees. Can I get tax credit for what I spent?

A) Although these expenses cannot be deducted they can be capitalized and added to the cost basis of your property. Only those costs which increased the value of the property can be added, however. The expense of maintaining your home may not be deducted or capitalized.

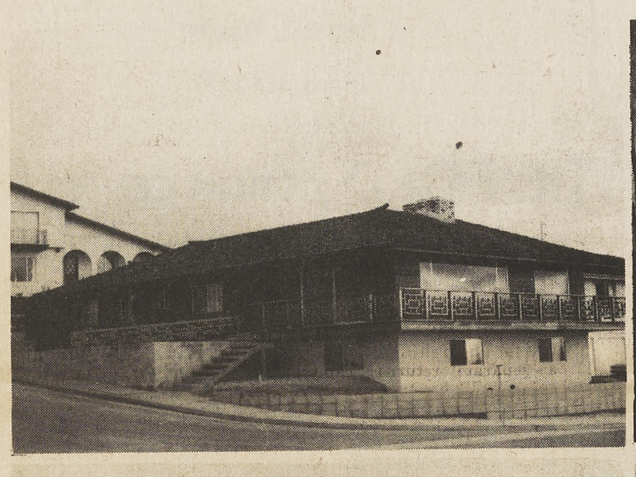
Discover Del Monte Heights

The Monterey Peninsula's finest real estate value

The Redevelopment Agency of the City of Seaside will host

"Discover Del Monte Heights Day"
Sunday July 12, 1970
between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m.



The Agency office at 1600 LaSalle St., Seaside, will be open and staffed to supply maps with available building sites marked and directions to open houses located in the Monterey Peninsula's most exciting new residential area. Contractors or their representatives will be available to conduct tours of new homes that have been completed or are under construction.

Del Monte Heights has been thoughtfully developed in a setting of unmatched natural beauty, undisturbed by overhead utilities, with streets and gutters that gracefully follow the land contour, all at no cost to the new property owners.

204 beautiful new homes have been built and are nestled in amongst a permanent green belt area with 6 new beautiful parks and 3 new schools that are now in operation. Exciting building sites are still available and are priced from $3,300 to $7,000. All improvements are in and completed. There are no assessments or bonds.

Del Monte Heights is centrally located just minutes away from Fort Ord, Monterey, the Naval Postgraduate School, Seaside and only 20 minutes from Salinas.

Directions: Turn east off Fremont Boulevard on LaSalle and continue to the Redevelopment Agency Office at 1600 LaSalle Street.

We are proud to be associated with the following redevelopers:

Questions & Answers PG&E

Q. I injured my back while on active duty about two years ago, and it is beginning to bother me again. Can the VA help me?
A. You should contact your nearest VA office, file a claim and establish that your ailment is service-connected. Any honorably separated veteran who served during the Vietnam era is eligible for admittance to a VA hospital on the same basis as other war veterans.

Q. Do I have to report as income the interest earned on my Series E Bonds when I complete my VA annual income questionnaire?
A. Not if you don't cash the bonds. Interest earned should be reported only for the calendar year in which the bonds are cashed.

Q. While on active duty, I carried Servicemen's Group Life Insurance. After separation, I was so busy I forgot that I was supposed to convert this policy within 120 days, and that period has passed. Can I now convert?
A. Unfortunately, no. The law stipulates that conversion must be made within 120 days after separation.

Q. My father is permanently and totally disabled as a result of a service-connected disability incurred in Vietnam. If I marry, will I still be eligible for educational assistance from the Veterans Administration?
A. Yes. Marriage does not affect your eligibility for educational benefits from the Veterans Administration.

Less than 33,500 senior citizens have filed claims for property tax refunds under the Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance Law. If you are over 65, own your own home, and your income was under $3,350, you should file before the October 15 deadline. For information, write Senior Citizens Property Tax Assistance, POB 1588, Sacramento CA 95807.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company today announced a further step in its continuing efforts to reduce air pollution. It has signed a contract for the annual purchase of one million barrels of premium, low ash, low sulfur fuel oil for use in generating electricity.

PG&E uses oil as a secondary fuel in place of natural gas in its steam electric generating plants during severe cold spells when home heating gets priority over the fuel needs of generating plants.

The new contract is with Atlantic Richfield Company for 0.5 percent sulfur oil at a premium over prices previously paid for higher sulfur content oil.

Purchases under the contract are contingent upon the continuation of present federal oil import policies.

In a companion contract, Atlantic Richfield has agreed to repurchase one million barrels of higher sulfur oil from PG&E.

Although its power plants are responsible for only a small amount of stack emissions, PG&E has been working to reduce these even further. Through expansion of its natural gas transmission system it has substantially reduced use of oil. It has also reduced nitric oxide emissions through boiler modifications.

However, the company's most significant long range program involves future construction of pollution-free nuclear plants.

County Fair

A small investment can reap impressive dividends for junior livestock exhibitors at Monterey County Fair, to be held August 12 through 16.

Entry fees of $1.15 for breeding cattle and $1 for market animals make their owners eligible for an impressive array of trophies and for equally impressive prize money.

First place premium for breeding cattle pays the owner $18.50 for a single animal, or $22.50 for two or more.

For sheep and hogs entry fees are only 55¢ for breeding animals and 50¢ for the market classes. Again there are a number of trophies to be won, as well as prize monies to be earned.

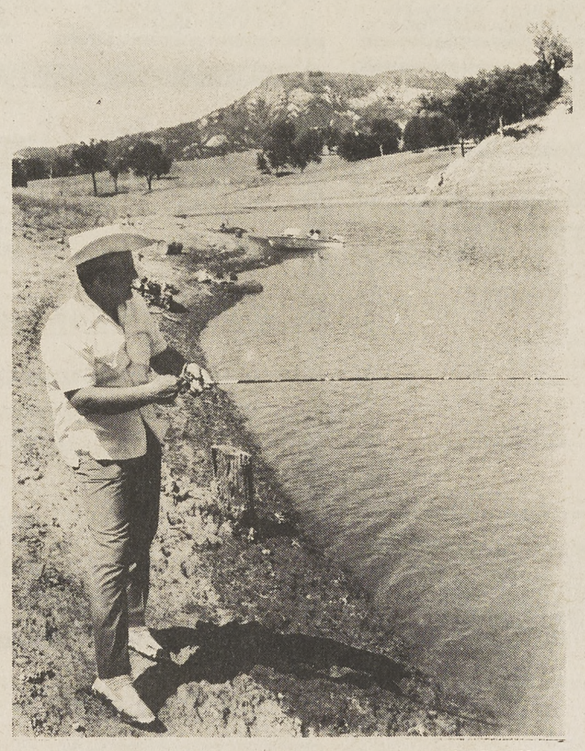
There are also some fringe benefits in cash awards. The fair offers a $2 a day "clean pen" award for the best kept stalls of junior exhibitors and a sweepstake premium of $15 to the club which accumulates the most points for clean pens during the 5-day fair.

The first entry deadline for the coming fair is for Future Farmer of America and 4-H Club exhibitors. They must have their livestock entry blanks at the fairgrounds office by 5 p.m., July 7.

(The first deadline for adult exhibitors is July 10 for all entries in the 5-day National Horse Show which runs concurrently with the fair.)

Junior exhibitors at the Monterey County Fair must live in Monterey or Santa Cruz Counties, or in that part of San Benito County which lies within the King City High School District.

Junior exhibitors who plan to sell a beef animal at the Junior Livestock Auction, which begins 10 a.m., August 15, must have a brand inspection certificate dates 120 days prior to the opening day of the fair.



FISHING HOLE -- Fisherman Jack Phillips tries his luck in a fishing hole in one of the fingers of Lake Nacimiento. A selfstocking fisherman's paradise, Lake Nacimiento supplies plenty of action with largemouth bass, white bass, cousin to the famous stiped bass, white and channel catfish, crappie and bluegill perch. The lake is more than seven times larger than Lake Arrowhead, with hundreds of fishing coves and inlets for Oak Shores owners to enjoy.

Your Social Security

by Raymond MacDonald

Q. My mother just died. She was getting a Social Security check each month. Is there a lump-sum benefit to help pay her burial expenses? If so, how much?

A. We can pay a lump-sum between $192 to $255, if your mother worked long enough under Social Security to become insured. If her benefit was based on her relationship to the worker (wife or widow) then no benefit is payable.

Q. I was 18 years old in April, and I graduated from high school in June. I am recieving survivor benefits from Social Security now. I am planning to attend the area community college for 2 years beginning in September and then go on to the State university. Will Social Security help me?

A. You can continue receiving Social Security payments until you are 22 provided you attend an accredited educational institution full time and are not married. You would qualify for payments as a full-time student at either a community college or state university. Be sure to notify the Social Security Administration of your school attendance beyond 18.

Q. If a disabled worker is able to return to work, are his benefits stopped immediately?

A. Not necessarily. His benefits may be continued for up to 12 months while he is testing his ability to work.

(Mail your questions to Social Security, c/o the Post News-Sentinel, Seaside, or phone Social Security office 373-3351)

310 Officers

Three hundred ten officers were graduated Friday, June 26, from the Naval Postgraduate School in Monterey, Calif.

The graduates represented the U.S. Navy, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Army and Air Force, plus the navies of 13 foreign nations.

Rear Admiral Dick H. Guinn, deputy chief of naval personnel was the commencement speaker. In his address to the graduates, Rear Adm. Guinn stressed the importance the Navy attaches to postgraduate education in declaring that "overall education is one index of the competence and quality of our officer corps."

Nine diplomas of completion and 309 degrees -- 77 bachelor's, 221 master's, 7 engineer's and 4 doctor's -- were awarded.

Awards presented or announced at commencement and their recipients were: Distinguished Professor Medallion -- Carl E. Norman Murphy

Norman Murphy is the new 1970-1971 president of Monterey County Industrial Development, Inc.

Murphy, who is the vice-president and manager of Bank of America's Salinas main branch, was installed yesterday (6-25) to succeed Robert Gray, plant manager of Peter Paul.

Other officers named to serve with Murphy on the County-wide organization include Mark Ludescher, first vice-president; Thomas McCullough, 2nd vice-president and Alice Jansen, secretary-treasurer.

Salinas City Manager Thomas G. Dunne, was elected to a three year term as a new MCID director, and 13 directors whose terms expired on June 30th, were re-elected.

These included Richard Bennett, Lamar Blair, Howard Carter, J. Fred Ching, Francis Cislini, John Frassetto, L.E. Johnson, John H. Nail, William Packwood, Clyn Smith, M.D., Loren Soenke, Roland Tavernetti and Howard H. Weile.

MCID, faced with phasing out of funds by the Monterey County Board of Supervisors, last January signed agreements with the Salinas Chamber of Commerce to conduct a program of industrial development for the Salinas area, the north and south county areas and with the Council of Monterey Bay, Inc. (COMB) to conduct a program of ocean activities on the Monterey Peninsula.

The directors heard a quarterly activity report from Wallace Holm, president of the COMB and Les Dabritz, executive vice-president of the Salinas Chamber of Commerce.

Holm indicated that COMB held its first annual election of a permanent Board of Directors on May 22 and that officers were elected May 27th.

COMB presently has 42 members and is instituting a new membership campaign to bring its membership up to 100 members.

Holm said that the COMB had sponsored a dinner at which Lt. Governor Ed Reinecke spoke on coastal conservation and development. He also reported that COMB had met with officers of Seaside, Monterey Peninsula and Salinas chambers of commerce to establish coordination and close liaison. COMB also prepared and distributed two documents to assist local government agencies in initiating pment agencies in initiating planning for coastal regions.

Holm told of six contacts by COMB officials with prospective firms interested in locating in the Monterey Peninsula area including a large international electronics firm.

Dabritz advised the directors that the Chamber had organized a new Industrial Development Committee which would function with four key subcommittees. The committee has a special sewer task force currently studying the City of Salinas' proposed sewer ordinance.

Dabritz said that the committee has arranged a tour of the Moss Landing Harbor for early August along with a meeting with Harbor Commissioners to keep abreast of plans and developments at the harbor.

He also reported on the progress of a new county-wide industrial firms who are planning Salinas locations.

Dabritz also indicated that he has recently been appointed to the California State Chamber of Commerce's state-wide Economic Development Committee which is composed primarily of leading industrial development people from throughout California.

CASE NUMBER: MDR 958
SUMMONS (MARRIAGE)

In re the marriage of
Petitioner: BARBARA INTELLI,
and
Respondent: THEODORE G. INTELLI

To the Respondent:
The petitioner has filed a petition concerning your marriage. You may file a written response * within thirty days of the date that this summons is served on you. If you fail to file a written response within such time, your default may be entered and the court may enter a judgment containing injunctive or other concerning division of property spousal support, child custody, child support, attorneys' fees, costs and such other relief as may be granted by the court.
If you wish to see a lawyer for advice in this matter, you should do so promptly so that your written response, if any, may be filed on time.

Jazz Festival

Three major big bands--those of Duke Ellington, Woody Herman and Buddy Rich--will be featured at this year's Monterey Jazz Festival.

The Festival, now in its thirteenth year, will be held September 18, 19, 20 in the 7000-seat outdoor arena of the Monterey County Fairgrounds. It will consist of five separate and different concerts--Friday, Saturday and Sunday evenings and Saturday and Sunday afternoons.

The Duke Ellington band will perform during the Friday evening concert, September 18; Woody Herman, Saturday evening, September 19 and Buddy Rich, Sunday evening the 20th. Other artists will perform in these concerts as well but have not yet been signed and announced.

Jimmy Lyons, festival general manager also announced that the internationally-known musical event will "return this year to an all jazz policy."

For the past several years the festival has included in its program a number of leading rock bands and performers. Lyons said, "Rock music is a vital force in America today. It is a valid musical expression and much of it is derivative of jazz forms. We have felt fully justified in presenting this rock music on stage at Monterey and it has given us many of our finest hours. However, presenting rock artists means that we must necessarily pass by many jazz performers who deserve to be heard at the festival. There are many major pop music events where rock artists may present their music in artistic settings. However, there are not that many jazz festivals available for the first rate jazz performer.

"Accordingly," Lyons continued, "we will be sticking closer to a jazz line--mainstream, avant garde, the blues, and rhythm and blues."

The only other performers announced to date for the 13th Annual Monterey Jazz Festival have been the Johnny Otis Show, Rhythm and Blues Hall of Fame All-Stars, set for the Saturday afternoon, September 19 concert. Among artists who will perform in this concert are T-Bone Walker, Jimmy Rushing, Big Joe Turner, Little Esther Phillips, Johnny Otis and others.

Season tickets for the 13th Annual Monterey Jazz Festival are on sale now. Holders of season tickets are assured best reserved seats at all five concerts at less than regular box office prices. Dr. George Faul

A new four-year contract for Dr. George J. Faul, president of Monterey Peninsula College and superintendent of the junior college district since 1964, was announced at a special meeting of the MPC board of trustees Wednesday night. The contract carries with it a yearly salary of $29,500.

In other action the trustees approved a change of titles for Dr. Keith Merrill from "dean of evening and summer programs and community services" to the less cumbersome "dean of community education" and placed the position on the administrative salary schedule. Also changed was the title of "dean of technical-vocational education" to "associate dean of instruction" for Dr. David W. Hopkins Jr.

A cost-of-living salary raise of 6.553% was granted all full-time and part-time faculty, the deans and the classified staff, and new salary schedules were adopted for all three groups.

In addition, an extra "fringe benefit"--a dental insurance plan--was approved for the entire college staff.

Hobo-Cleanup Week must have been a great success from the looks of the crowd in this picture. Over 40 boys and girls participated in the cleanup of litter starting at Highland School and down Sonoma and Harding Streets. Last week over 10 bags of litter were collected. The children ranged from 1st to 6th grade. Prizes for the best custumes were awarded to 4 winners and 4 runners-up. Judges for the best costume were Marvin McKnight, community school directors Mrs. June Mitchell Judge, Mrs. Benita Turner, 6th grade teacher, Harold Rush, counselors aide, S. Rodriguez, counselors aide. The cleanup was sponsored by physical education and community programs. -photo by Camera Masters

Cal Expo Theater

With some performances already scheduled, Cal Expo's new indoor Showcase Little Theatre premieres when the 117th annual California State Fair and Exposition throws open its gates from Aug. 21 through Sept. 9. This type of entertainment is a new concept for Cal Expo according to Woodrow Miller, chairman of the special events and attractions committee.

Performances already on the calendar for the comfortable, air-conditioned theater in Building 1, Exposition Center, are a luncheon hostessed by the Woman's Council on Woman's Day, Aug. 26; a quartet on Barbershop Harmony Day, Aug. 29; "El Negro" variety show presented by Oscar Robinson of the Oak Park Music Conservatory, Aug. 29; and two cultural entertainment shows and a demonstration of flower arranging on Japanese American Day, Aug. 30.

All drama and performing arts groups throughout the state are invited to utilize this 36 foot, specially-built stage which can play to an intimate capacity audience of 300 to 400 persons. There will be no fee for the use of the complete stage facility, including a public address system, complete light gallery and adjacent dressing rooms, and no admission charge for theatergoers.

"Just bring your costumes and props," Miller encouraged, "and let's get on with the show!"

Interested local and college drama groups throughout California, professional performers, ballet troupes, and organizations wishing to sponsor fashion shows or other entertainment are urged to contact Mrs. Artha Osmon, coordinator of special events for Cal Expo, at POB 15649, Sacremento, CA 95815, or telephone (916) 641-2551, as soon as possible to schedule their performances.

"now is also the time to plan ahead and reserve a performance date for the 1971 State Fair," Miller pointed out, "because Showcase Little Theatre ideally spotlights all kinds of talent and affords every group a 'built-in' audience."

The Showcase Little Theatre lobby will also serve as new, improved headquarters this year for the Woman's Council and members will staff the information desk daily.

Tax Practitioners Exam

A special enrollment examination will be held on September 28 and 29, 1970, for accountants and others who wish to qualify to represent their clients before the Internal Revenue Service.

Tax practitioners who are not certified public accountants or attorneys must demonstrate their technical competence before they can represent their clients before the Internal Revenue Service. The right to practice is governed by technical and ethical standards set by the Treasury Department.

Information about the examination and applicants must file no later than August 31, 1970, and must include, with their application, a $25 fee to cover the costs of administering the two day examination.

Northern California tax practitioners who wish to apply to take the examination should send their request for an application to:
Internal Revenue Service

Spanish Class May Be Dropped

An adult summer school class in intermediate Spanish is in danger of being dropped because of lack of enrollment, which must total 15 to be continued. The class, initiated because of expressed interest of some adults who had taken beginning Spanish during the regular term, meets Mondays from 9:00 a.m. to noon in the New Monterey Neighborhood Center, 280 Dickman Avenue, Monterey.

The instructor is Mrs. Elena Klahn, a native of Bolivia.

Registration may be at the July 6 meeting of the class. Gerald O. Anderson, principal of Monterey Peninsula Unified School District's adult school and summer school said that if there are not enough people registered by July 6 the class will not be offered for the balance of summer school.

Assemblyman Bob Wood

Assemblyman Bob Wood today congratulated the Association of Monterey Bay Area Governments for winning approval of the first study loan to be made under California's Water Reclamation Law.

Wood said, "The State Water Resources Control Board has approved a proposed $25,000 loan to AMBAG to help finance an urgently needed $50,000 planning study."

The study, which will take approximately six months to complete, is to determine the most feasible methods of wastewater disposal for the Monterey Bay area. It has been designed to consider the combined immediate and long-range treatment and disposal needs of the Cities of Monterey and Pacific Grove and the Seaside County Sanitation District as the core of a South Monterey Bay wastewater reclamation plan.

Assemblyman Wood explained that under the State's Water Reclamation Law the State Board may make loans to public agencies to pay up to one half of the cost of studies and investigations in connection with wate water reclamation.

"I talked to Kerry Mulligan, Chairman of the State Board, today," Wood said, "and he informs me that the Board is quite pleased to make this loan. The Board hopes that the AMBAG study will be just the first of many area-wide studies to get underway in this important area."

Assemblyman Wood has strongly supported water reclamation is the author of Assembly Bill 107, recently signed by the Governor. This bill will bring water reclamation considerations into state water rights administration.

CLINT EASTWOOD welcomes singer Mary Wilson, one of the stars of The Supremes, to the guest list of the first Eastwood Celebrity Tennis Tourney at Pebble Beach July 3, 4 and 5. Miss Wilson signed up for the National Council on Alcoholism benefit while visiting Eastwood on the set of his current film, "The Beguiled." Other stars set for the tournament include Jimmy Brown, James Garner, George Peppard, James Franciscus, Hugh O'Brien, Claudine Longet, Efrem Zimbalist, Lloyd Bridges, Beau Bridges and Howard Duff.

Hi there fellow Peninsulans, happenings last week were: the Clint Eastwood tennis tournament, which was a very exciting event to attend. This reporter rubbed shoulders, & knees on Fri afternoon with the Hollywood stars, TV producers, wealthy & etc. (smiles) While at the tournament I had the pleasure of sitting in a private box that was reserved for the press that was situated right next to the tennis courts, whereas I couldn't miss any of the action. Jim Brown, that massive, gorgeous, hunk of male pulchritude, was Paul Blocks tennis partner, this team opposed Peter Paxton & Steve Peyton. Jim Brown and Paul Block won this match. It was very different seeing Jim Brown amble around on the tennis court, instead of on the football field or in the movies. He wasn't quite as agile as the pro players because he has quite a bit of muscle to move around on the courts. But Wow! you should have seen him chomp that little ball. I also noticed during the afternoon that of all of the numerous Hollywood stars that were down for this affair, all of them seemed to be so friendly and relaxed with everyone. I found myself talking to different stars who I knew I had seen on the screen, but I was to naive to ask them their name (smiles) Gosh! I wanted autographs for my children but nowadays that is considered sort of uncouth, so I kept smiling but

PROTESTANT VOWS RECITED

Annelisa London became the bride of William Moore in an afternoon ceremony in the Main Post Chapel, Fort Ord. Chaplain William Westlund officiated the 2:00 ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil London of Marina, was given in marriage by her father. She wore an original designed floor length gown of alencon lace over taffeta. The dress featured the wedding ring neckline, long finger tip sleeves and the traditional cathedral train.

Her short bouffant illusion veil was held secure with a satin and silk pedal head piece, and her bridal bouquet was of white baby roses with a white orchid in the center.

Serving as matron of honor was Mrs. Charmaigne Craft, who wore a lavender, long sleeved satin gown with matching satin bow head piece to hold her veil. She carried a colonial bouquet of pink carnations. Bridesmaids, sisters of the groom, Gwen and Valerie Booker, wore blue, long sleeved satin gowns. They also had matching bow head pieces to hold their veils. They carried colonial bouquets of pink carnations.

The groom asked his close friend, Carlos Hollingsworth, to be best man. Ushers were Willy Brisco and the bride's brother, Alvin London.

A champagne reception, immediately following the ceremony, was held at the Senior Non-Commissioned Officers' Club, Fort Ord, where the traditional cutting of the cake was performed.

Annelisa graduated from Frankfurt American High School, Germany, as an honor student in 1968. She is a student at MPC, where she is also employed.

William, son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Booker of Seaside, also graduated from Frankfurt American High School with athletic honors in 1967. He is presently completing his last semester at MPC.

Mrs. London attended her daughter's wedding wearing a white taffeta suit dress with matching ice blue coat, while Mrs. Booker chose to wear a candlelight colored knit suit with fur trimmed neckline. Both mothers wore corsages of white carnations.

When leaving for a honeymoon at Lake Tahoe, the bride was very smart looking, wearing a cashmire knit dress with purple haze accessories and wearing a beautiful grand white orchid.

The young couple will establish their home in Seaside until January 1971, when both will transfer to the University of Santa Clara, where they will take studies towards higher degrees.

CORONATION BALL

The Peninsula Strivers Club held their Eighth Annual "Miss Striverette Coronation Ball at the Exhibition Hall, Monterey Fairgrounds on Saturday nite, June 20.

Seven young ladies, each sponsored by a member of the club, sold "vote for me" tickets, in competition, for the title of "Miss Striverette 1970." This year, Marva Harrison was crowned with these honors. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Caleb Barco of Seaside. She graduated from King Junior High School in June and will attend Seaside High School in the Fall. Her escort was Cris Williams. First runner up, Wanda McKinney. Wanda is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert McKinney of Seaside, and will attend Seaside High this fall. She is also a graduate from King Junior High. Her escort for the evening was Clinton Edwards. Second runner up was Debra Edwards. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Carter of Seaside. She is a student at King Junior High. Her escort was Hollis Morning.

Other contestants were Arlene Ashurst, escorted by Charles Reddie; Annette Hawkins, escorted by Victor Boland; Pamela Green, who was escorted by Sgt. Johnson; and Pauline Callaway, escorted by Willie Graham. All young ladies appeared in beautiful floor length gowns.

During the ceremony, Romona Fergurson, "Miss Striverette '69," crowned and placed queens' robe on Marva, and presented her with a bouquet of roses. Marva also received a trophy and a $50 gift certificate. 1st runner up was also awarded a trophy and a $35 gift certificate. 2nd runner up received a trophy and was awarded a $25 gift certificate.

Another highlight during the evening was a drawing. Stubs were available from purchase of "vote for me tickets." 1st drawing, a portable television, was won by Mrs. Robert Cocroft of Seaside. Second drawing, a portable transistor radio was won by Welch Relator of Seaside.

Master of ceremonies during the evening was Elwood Williams of Seaside. Music was provided by the Capris.

President of the club is Tyrie Howard.

MISS BUSH IS A JUNE BRIDE

Marital vows were exchanged between Patricia Ann Bush and 1st Lt. Henry Lewis Morgan on June 19 at St. Francis Xavier Church, Seaside. Father Charlie Moore performed the 12 noon Nuptial Mass ceremony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse James Bush, Sr. of Houston, Texas. The bridegroom is the grandson of Mrs. Mary Robinson of Hamlet, N.C.

The bride wore an empire "A" line gown of white linen with a bodice of white chiffon lace and veil to match. Her flowers were white roses, baby breath and stepahnotis.

The bride was given in marriage by Mr. Curtis Ramsey.

The only attendant was Carrie McGowan of San Francisco.

Best man was Isaac Perry of St. Louis, Missouri.

Seating guests was Lawrence Franks of San Francisco.

Following the ceremony, the couple greeted guests at the Holiday Inn in Monterey, during a reception, after which they left for their honeymoon.

Out of town guests were Mrs. Rosa Lee Bush of Houston, Texas, mother of the bride; Jessie James Bush, Jr., brother of the bride, also of Houston; Mrs. Mary A. Atkins of Buffalo, New York, sister of the groom.

The new Mrs. Morgan is a teacher in the Monterey Peninsula Unified School District. The bridegroom is in the United States Army, stationed in Korea.

I was still wishing (smiles) I had the esteemed pleasure of interviewing Mary Wilson, who is a living doll, she was so friendly & cute and she acted like it was an honor for me to aske her if I could interview her (heh heh) She stated that she would be appearing next at the Steel Pier club in Atlantic City N.J. along with the other Supremes and starting Aug 29, the Supremes will be appearing in Las Vegas. Now on to Mary's tennis playing, she confessed to me that Fri was the first time she had ever held a tennis rachet & ball (smile) The purpose of the tournament is to have hollywood celebs come and play tennis to attract the public for this charitable cause, it doesn't matter whether they are professional players or not, and Mary is not a pro or am, but she cracked up hitting at the ball I believe she had a hole in her racket (smile) I had the pleasure of sitting for this match with her entourage of personal friends from Hollywood, we all acted as her rooting section. Mary's partner was Yvan Nopert, owner of L'Escargot restaurant in Carmel, who was very humoresque. Yvan and Mary had spectators crowding around to watch the comedy. Mary would hit the ball and it would go over in the other court where the other players were playing and they would holler oops! Mary wrong court (smiles) in all, she was the star of the show. Another star & his son who impressed the crowd very much, was Lloyd & Bo Bridges who played as partners and won their match. It was amazing how youthful Lloyd Bridges looks, you could barely tell which one was the father or which one was the son. In the next box from where I was sitting, sat Clint Eastwood's mon and dad who seemed to be enjoying the match. Clint's baby son, kept his mother, young & cute Maggie Eastwood, busy running out on the court after him, even tho his private nurse was at hand. It was fun watching Doug McClure who plays the part of (Trampas) on the Virginians. Christoper Connelly of Peyton Place, playing real good tennis. Guess what! this gal is inquiring about tennis lessons next week. I love the game, it takes lots of stamina but what fun it must be. I sat watching very enviously the trim & petite ladies in their white tennis outfits and I thought to myself their by the grace of god go I, if I could only eat salads, instead of soul foods. (smiles) Other happenings this week were: The 24th Powder Puff derby, which was also an exciting event. This was the first time the P.P. derby has been in Monterey and by the looks of the beautiful weather we had, it was ordered especially for these lovely ladies. I interviewed some of these lady pilots who ranged from ages 17 years up to 60 years, some were in school, one was 7 months pregnant ("by the way she had to run to the little girls room before take off") one had 6 grandchildren & etc. But the most exciting one was Susan Oliver, who starred in Peyton Place she was the co-pilot of Mrs. Margaret Mead. They were flying "Virginia Slims" plane. While interviewing these ladies I met the brand manager of Virginia Slims & Phillip Morris cigarettes, Steve Korson, who was taking movies of the gals & their plane, which had "you've come a long ways baby" written on it. I interviewed Marsha Ivins of Wallingford PA who was flying in her 1st PP derby. Lorna DeBlicquy of Ontario Ottawa, who has been flying 24 yrs. Pat M Cewen who is the mother of 6 kids. There was a mother & daughter team Gene & Kathleen Fitzpatrick, Ingrid Heinz & Dr. Shirley Siew who were here from Johannesburg, South Africa. While interviewing these lovely & adventurous ladies, I was getting more impressed of the matching outfits of each pilot & her co-pilot, beautiful indian outfits, pant suits, bermuda shorts & etc. I also leanred that to get your commercial license & etc it costs approx $1000 for lessons. Wow! Most of these ladies I'm certain were from well to do surroundings (smiles) After the blessing of the fleet, which was delivered by the Catholic Diocese of Monterey, the ladies were ordered to stand by their planes for takeoff and the area was cleared of husbands & children & mothers and spectators like me. (By the way it was beautiful to hear how so many of these lady's husbands fly to these derbys in their private planes and meet their wives at different stopovers (now I call that "togetherness" (smile) I had the pleasure of standing with Connie Hood of Carmel's mother Mrs Lorene Scala, who owns a dress shop in Carmel Connie was one of the co pilots in the derby. Mrs Scala is almost a accomplished pilot by her knowledge of planes she gave me all of the lowdown on the rules & regulations that the pilots must follow. I learned that if they don't circle the airport tower, they would be disqualified, and also their flying time is logged, starting from the time they clear the tower and the hours they spend in actual flight, that determines who wins. I thought if I were a contestant in the derby I would not stop for lunch, toilet stops or etc (smile) but that doesn't really matter. Connie & her husband Al Hood have purchased the Carmel Valley Airport and have a chartered flight service in operation. So if you want to take off on a private destination to parts known or unknown here's your chance (smile) I would like to sign off by stating this; Every women should learn to fly mabye that would give us a bit of a priority feeling over our men that don't fly. I'm for the womens liberation movement. (smiles) Im saving a dollar down & a dollar week for flight lessons. Oh! but I forgot! ("After lessons "whose plane will I fly"

Signing off for now
